Welcome to the first printing of the Clanthis Banner Harold. We, as the chief editors would like to give a nod to our sister paper the Shadowmoor Inquisitor. It is our intent to inform and amuse to the best of our abilities, and to publish articles written exclusively by our readers, regardless of content. We will of course censor content deemed too dangerous for national security or treasonous. Now please! Enjoy our publication.

In other news, it is this humble reporter's job to relay that the Shadowmoor Inquisitor will no longer be printed. My sources say it is because Shadowmoor has been eaten by purple hook horrors. That is the honest truth.

LET IT SNOW!
Sephrina, guildmistress of the celestial guild was seen making a number of snowmen with Seneschal Scyld of Sahde. "Our army will be ready soon, and we will march it on the Sotherlands before this winter is out!" was the only statement she was willing to release to our reporters.

THE Guilds Revolt!

The rumor that the guilds are revolting is true! Word on the street is that they are pissed at the baronies for being glory hogs, and want a cut of the jib. When asked, Miss Cowlyopeepee had this to say, "I'm a big stupid dumb head! Duh!" True words were never spoken. What can this portend?!

A recent scientific study has proven that the Fey race known as Truell are actually lesser purple hook horrors, and that they are under the command of Norn the half-Alumari, half-Dragon, greater undead purple hook horror. What his nefarious plans are remain to be seen, but the rumor is that they are planning an expedition to the moon.

A Whale of a Tale!

Prominent CLANTHIAN figurehead, Riak the Black has declared war on all the whales in the Ocean. Porpostales, a member of the council of whales, was quoted saying "Riak the Black has gone too far this time, and will pay dearly for his transgressions." When asked for his reasoning, Riak said "That Plankton is mine!"

Hungry Hungry Cupric?

For a long time, the halfling shortage has been a problem in Clanthis. Locks aren't being picked, traps aren't being disarmed, and the cheese is just not being made right. For some reason, this epidemic seems to idly fall to the floor when the Fat Cats on Embassy Hill are putting their problems on the table. The real reason why no one is doing anything about this can be easily traced to small business loans and Payola! But all we have to do is rest our eyes on the Armorsmiths Guild and the truth will make itself apparent. It is a well-known fact that Halflings hate dwarves. But this feeling is not mutual. Dwarves, in fact, love Halflings, especially with a side of fries and a cold one. I cannot come out in the open and just say what I am eluding to, due to the repercussions, but Cupric eats Halflings.

Invest scrolls have been found to be printed on ent paper with dolphins blood/ink. Help put a stop to this awful practice and boycott all invest scrolls! Unless of course, you hate ents and dolphins, in which case, invest on my good man!

Vrae male deported to Sahde. "I'm not from there!" Screams indignant elf. Debracy-townfolk gathered in the peaceful town of Debracy last Saturday to watch as Kel'thas (drae, 247) was forced into his home. "I keep telling you I'm from the Underdark!" said the knife wielding dark elf. Kel'thas was deported from La Rochelle for alleged trafficking in exotic mushrooms. "All I did was order a portobello sandwich. Why are you making me live in a stinking tree house?" defended the deportee. When asked for comments, Mayor Lithoridanavian Moon whisper replied "there goes the neighborhood!"

found amongst a pile of empty bottles, gesticulating wildly and yelling: "what! you sons of a bitches, you think your better'n me? Your mom is a blue elf el consolator! Locals are skeptical about Lord Roue's return, clanthian milli Vanmunson (human, 24) had this to say. "That man's a noble? seriously? The one shoving children and flailing at imaginary gnomes? oh... oh no... that man smells of bourbon, and the front of his tabbard has a lot of vomit on it!"

HEALERS guild Desecrating Left + Right! clanthia - The news of the Healers guild circle desecrating people has spread like wild fire. Several people have left the circle in a less than satisfactory state. Everyone who ressurected in the Healers' Guild was coming out Desecrated. This problem was fixed when representatives of the Plane of Law took away the guild's Desecrate scroll. In response to these actions, Guild Mistress Calliope said, "I just want my damn scroll back!"
